

Announcement

It is a pleasure to announce an agreement that the Catalan Society of Transplantation and Permanyer Publications has reached for Trends in Transplantation to be considered the official journal of the Catalan society.

Trends in Transplantation is a well-recognized scientific journal, focused on organ transplantation, published quarterly, and including review articles. This agreement will be beneficial for both the Catalan Society and Trends. Trends should go on to be included in the PubMed, obtain an impact factor rating, and thus be strengthened. For the Catalan Society of Transplantation it is a great opportunity to have its own official journal, to publish their specific papers, and to give wide exposure to papers from their congress and meetings. The quality of the magazine allows optimism in this regard, and we think that within a short period of two years we can convert Trends in Transplantation into a reference journal in the world of organ transplantation.

To ratify this agreement and concurrent with the 12th Congress of the Catalan Society of Transplantation, a specific issue of the congress will be published in Trends. The main and selected papers of the congress will be published in the journal as original articles. This will give a great opportunity for researchers to publish their material in a young but attractive journal, with a good distribution and possible rating in PubMed in the near future. All of us through this letter encourage you to write and publish your research work in Trends in Transplantation, and all we consider that Trends could become a reference journal on organ transplantation and our society promoted with this development.

Thank you!!!!
